

^ We Fit Together

Lyrics by Larry Stallman and Barry Oreck/ Music by Barry Oreck (BMI)

Like pieces fit puzzles and keys fit their locks;
Like fingers fit gloves, and toes fit their socks;
Like two beating hearts fit a candle lit mood;
Like thunder fits lightning at high altitude;
Like yin spoons with yang as only it could;
Fitting together is good.

Like a ball fits a socket; and a hand fits a pocket;
Like a portrait fits a locket and fuel fits a rocket;
Like a tingling sensation, like a deep conversation
Like the joke that only you get
Like the first time I saw you I'll never forget
We fit together good.

Chorus:

How did we land in the same time and space?
How did the tumblers all fall into place?
How did we earn the incredible grace?
To be us as only we could;
And to fit together so good.

The first time we danced we moved like we're one
with each footstep and turn a rhythm begun
The feel of your hand nestled in mine
The points on our compasses fell into line;
To us, without words, an unmistakable sign;
That we fit together good.

Chorus:

Like Romeo thought Juliet had died from her love;
And he ended his life where he stood;
Like we know that we love at a terrible cost;
'Cause the firmament stars have always been crossed;
And the ships of our dreams have always been tossed;
We rush to make up for the time that we've lost;
And to fit together good.

Chorus

Yes, we fit together so good. We fit together so good
